YOUR SKYDIVING LICENCE

The next step in your skydiving career after completing your first jump is obtaining your A-Licence.

This qualifies you to pack and use your own parachute (more commonly called a “rig”), and is your next step to having even more fun as you build on your existing skills.

Of course, once you’re using your own equipment, jump prices drop dramatically because you are no longer paying for rig hire, instruction and extra seats in the aircraft.

Worldwide jump prices range between $30 - $46 per jump

As you progress in your skydiving career, you train for the next licence, which has certain requirements and benefits for you and your sport.
